

DXC Assure Legal Insights

DXC Assure Legal Insights offers new ways to quantify litigation results and costs by combining a flexible, easy-to-use legal spend benchmarking tool with complete, straightforward judicial analytics covering state and local jurisdictions. One available data platform includes all the elements needed to identify, quantify and measure litigation-related risks and costs. DXC Assure Legal Insights combines the power of litigation analytics with cost data and legal fee benchmarking.

The business case

Today's general counsel (GC) must do more with less. They are under additional scrutiny to control, and lower, external legal fees while identifying and mitigating litigation and related risks that can also increase costs.

They're turning to creative new ways to manage and mitigate risks that increase costs to their organizations. They need to:

- Quickly identify cost-savings opportunities
- Leverage technologies and data platforms to better manage legal risks, drive efficiencies and lower costs
- Measure and define a team's value proposition
- Partner with other key stakeholders, particularly finance and procurement, to deliver enhanced legal services at lower costs
- Drive standardization of legal services

External legal services procurement costs, along with overall litigation costs, continue to rise. GCs struggle with whether to push a matter to trial or to settle. Historically, whether to do so involved a guessing game, as no reliable data existed giving insight into case outcomes and judicial decisions.

Now, with DXC Assure Legal Insights, every GC, trial lawyer and litigation support professional can access actual empirical data on litigation outcomes and costs. No more guessing, speculating or hoping you are right about whether to bring, try or settle a lawsuit. DXC Assure Legal Insights provides access to data that users can rely on to better manage litigation while reducing litigation costs.

Some offerings provide insight into court outcomes only. Others provide insight into litigation costs. Only DXC brings both insights together into one powerful, easy-to-use data platform. Combine these insights with DXC's legal fee and rate benchmarking database, which consists of millions of billed

DXC Assure Legal Insights in action

DXC Assure Legal Insights maintains an expansive and secure warehouse of insurance carrier data on legal spending. Its intuitive interface easily compares legal spending with more than 5 years of insurance carrier data on legal spend. Users can also analyze federal, state and local court and case data to determine the average case length, cost and success probability. The software as a service supports several use cases for GCs.

GCs can:

- Identify opportunities to reduce legal spending by case types, timekeepers and litigation tasks across state and local jurisdictions
- Compare timekeeper rates across case types and litigation tasks in state and county jurisdictions to determine if the rates you pay timekeepers are above, consistent with or below the aggregated rate in the select jurisdiction

- Analyze the amount spent on law firms, case types, timekeepers and litigation tasks and compare them to peers' aggregated claims and invoices by state and county jurisdictions
- Project the average days to litigate case types, their average cost and the average panel counsel rate by state and local jurisdiction
- View empirical data on the tendency for success of litigating case types before judges in select state and local jurisdictions
- View the win-loss record of top outside counsel litigating select case types before judges in state and local jurisdictions

Why DXC Assure Legal Insights?

DXC Assure Legal Insights provides users with empirical data to see the interaction between litigation risk and cost. GCs must identify and mitigate litigation risk, while projecting and reducing costs. While other tools deal with risk and costs separately, only DXC Assure Legal Insights offers both insights in an intuitive, straightforward user experience. Legal teams can analyze matter duration and costs, and how changes in jurisdiction, judge and outside counsel affect outcomes.

Capabilities

- Maintains empirical data on how much you can save in legal spending yearly
